

Outline & Teaching Tips for Elijah and Jonah

Sunday Software's Elijah and Jonah software is being made available free-of-charge to the supporting members of Rotation.org. Learn more about sharing it and find links to this guide and other resources for the program at Rotation.org

Overview

Sunday Software's Elijah and Jonah software contains four interactive Bible stories:

1. Jonah – his whole story
2. Elijah and the Widow of Zarephath – 1 Kings 17:7-16
3. Elijah, Ahab, Prophets of Baal, the Still Small Voice – 1 Kings 18 and 19
4. Elijah, Elisha and the Chariot of Fire – 1 Kings 19 and 2 Kings 2

Each story is presented nearly word for word from the NIV. Some words and phrases have been improved for kids. Scripture text and references are shown in each story.

We have designed Jonah to be a complete lesson plan of no less than 30 minutes –depending on the questions you decided to discuss. Your time will vary depending on which questions you choose to discuss, how long you play the games in the story, and which follow-up activities you decided to do.

Elijah and the Widow will take about 15 to 20 minutes depending on discussion. Elijah, Ahab et al, is the longest Elijah story and may take up to 30-35 minutes to work through with your students. Additionally, some of its games can take even more time. Elijah and Elisha should take about 15 minutes to work through, with additional time needed for games and discussion. It is impossible to get through all three Elijah stories in one 45 to 60 minute class period. There is just too much to see, do, discuss and play. We recommend picking only one or two of the stories. Like Jonah, the Elijah stories are designed like lesson plans with scripture, study notes, questions, and activities built-into the software.

More about teaching the four stories

There is a thematic progression in the Elijah stories. The Widow's story can be used on its own. But the Elijah-Ahab Still Small Voice story is complemented when followed up by the Elijah-Elisha Chariots of Fire story because Elijah passes his prophetic mantle to the very person God told him to go anoint at the end of the Small Voice story.

Astute Bible students will notice that Jonah's story both compares and contrasts with Elijah's. Each story portrays unbelieving populations in a decidedly different way. Jonah lacks compassion while Elijah at times tries to demonstrates it. The King in Jonah's story reacts differently to God's Word than does Ahab in Elijah's story. Both stories feature PRAYER as a means of discerning God's will. Both prophet's stories address issues of compassion, listening to God, and raise the issue of how we should share God's message with "others."

AGE RANGE:

Ages 5-16 will enjoy this program. All the story elements are narrated, but only some of the study notes and questions are narrated. Young children will need help with some written content and with some game levels. In most cases, the first level or two of some of the games are easy enough for young players, but the levels get increasingly difficult. Other activities are suitable for all ages, though younger players will need more time to complete them.

How to Use the Discussion Questions

You will notice that many of the Study Notes found throughout the stories have suggested discussion questions. You may choose to discuss them as you find them, or come back to them after you have completed the story.

Preview all the study questions/notes and tell your students ahead of time which ones you want them to focus on. Before you start the lesson, tell them what you hope they will learn. Some of the available "worksheets" for this program contain those questions.

More about the Games and Quizzes

In Jonah, there are several mini-games that pop-up for play during the story, plus one large game to be played in the middle of the story (Smoochie's Spittin' Game) and two games to play after the story is over. One of these "after" games is a matching game that helps students remember the sequence of the Jonah story. Jonah also features "Wormie's Game" at the end. Wormie eats up Jonah's comfort zone.

In Elijah & the Widow, there is a mini-game early in the story, and the "Catch Me If You Can" game at the end.

The Elijah-Ahab story features the Baal Invaders game at the end of the story.

In version 1.0, the Elijah-Elisha story has two different quizzes at the end of it: one for the Elisha story, and a second more elaborate Board Game quiz about the entire set of Elijah-Elisha stories found on this CD. In Version 1.1 the Board game is on the main Elijah menu.

Each of the four stories has several mini-quizzes found throughout each story. In most cases these are only one or two questions long.

You will notice that we have embedded CONTENT in all of the games, sometimes in the form of statements, or questions, or mini-quizzes. Don't view the games as "non-teaching" time. Play with your students and stop to review content and themes purposely designed into the games.

Navigating the Stories

We have built unique navigation systems for Jonah and Elijah's. In Jonah's story, click the large green arrows to page left or page right. These can be clicked at anytime, even when they appear dimmed. The smaller circular arrows activate the individual "frames" of the story. In some cases, the frames advance by themselves. In other cases, the user must click the next frame's arrow to advance to the next part of the story.

Elijah's three stories can be navigated by clicking the arrows at the top of each page, and then the individual frame arrows which appear in the story.

Elijah and Jonah Outline & Highlights

Caution: Speedy clicking of navigational arrows will bypass content. Wait until each frame has loaded or played before advancing to the next frame or you may miss some great content and animation. Be patient.

Jonah

Jonah's voice brings to life the recalcitrant and unforgiving nature of Jonah, the would-be prophet. His attitude, which is preserved in scripture, is a stark contrast to God's patient conversations with Jonah, and the subtle teaching moment God visits on Jonah in the form of a worm. (Minimum 30 minutes to view, study and play)

Page 3: Chapter 1: The Story Begins. You must click the sailors hand to pay the fare. You must smash all 3 Barrels and answer the questions. There is a delay here before the program advances to encourage students to read!

Page 4: Click to make more storm effects. Click on the sailors to hear them pray to their gods. Practice throwing cargo. Click the Fling lever when the power meter is at the top for greatest distance. Click the sleeping mouse.

Page 8: Jonah is swallowed by God's agent...the Fish. Click the whale icon to examine the study note about the meaning of the Hebrew word for “fish.”

Page 10: Spit Jonah and the mouse onto dry land. See the Study note about part of Jonah's Psalm dealing with the concept of “mercy.” A recommended follow up activity is suggested –have students create a Psalm.

Smoochie's Spittin' game is found here. Click on the Power and Angle arrows to adjust how far Jonah will go. Game ends after about 10 spits. Theme: “What you can do to be a prophet today.”

Page 12: The King and Nineveh repent. There's a great study note for older students on the frame where the King finishes his decree. It suggests the activity of trying to come up with a NEW proclamation similar to the King's about how we could show our grief and repentance in visible ways today.

Page 13: Chapter 4... Jonah gets angry with God.

Near the end of this page students are asked “what will Jonah do next?” This is a good place to stop and talk about Jonah's attitude compared to God's. At the end of Page 13 another study note pops up asking “What's Jonah's Problem?” And the students are asked to select a statement they think is “most true.” They are all true. Page 14: The Worm is an Agent of God that teaches Jonah a lesson.

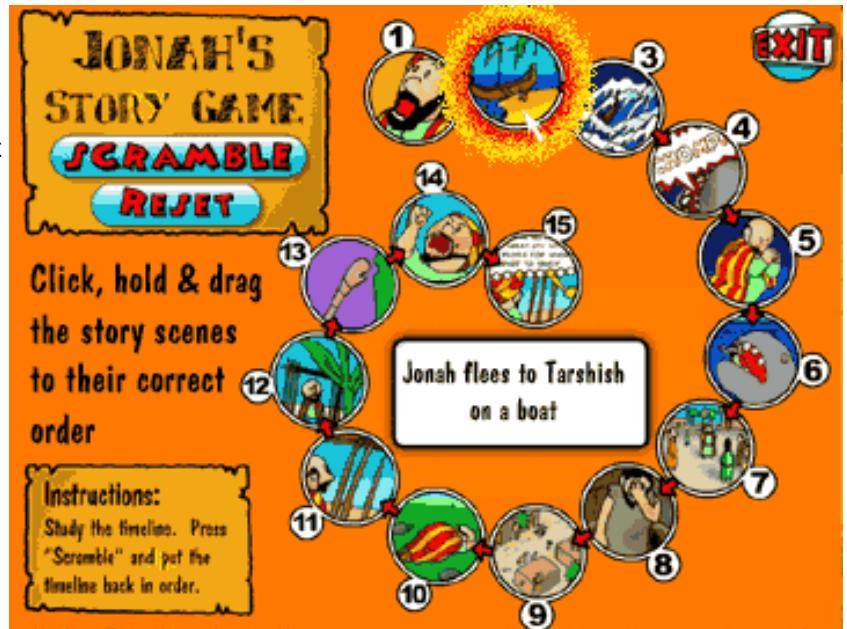

The issue of “fairness and unfairness” is brought to the forefront. It's an issue children and young teens struggle with a lot. Jonah had been “the good one” for some time, and these newly repentant Ninevites were getting off too easy.

Page 15: God and Jonah argue. The story ends rather abruptly. Look at how it ends in YOUR Bible. Jonah is the only book of the Bible to end with a question. We didn't end the CD's story with a question, but close! Jonah is left hanging. It's an excellent opportunity to write an ending to the story you could title “What happened to Jonah after God set him straight?”

- d) Wormie's Game: Wormie takes away Jonah's Comforts

Elijah and the Widow of Zarephath

(Minimum 20 minutes to view, study and play)

This very interesting story features a startling new idea for Israel: The widow was a foreigner living beyond the Israel's tribal boundaries. The "Chosen People" would have considered her outside of God's grace. Yet, Elijah reaches out to her and heals her son as a sign of God's goodness and care to all. On a metaphorical level, the Widow can also represent Israel, and her son can represent the "future."

Page 1: Introducing the story

Page 2: Elijah flees to be fed by ravens. (stop and play the feeding game)

Page 3: Elijah goes to Zarephath "a town just outside the Promised Land" and finds/tests the Widow's faith. Study notes you'll encounter will help describe the Widow as one who represents Israel, and her son –the future of Israel.

Page 4: When the son dies, the widow asks if she is being punished for her sins. But Elijah immediately attempts to revive the son.

Page 5: Elijah questions God in his prayer wondering if God had taken the widow's son, and asks for his life back, which God grants. The widow replies, "Now I know you are a man of God and the word of the Lord in your mouth is to be trusted." We don't get a direct answer as to whether God caused this situation, or used it to his advantage to teach Israel and Elijah an important lesson. It's important to remember that Elijah also was learning what God had in store for his people.

Options at the End of Page 5:

- a) Listen to story again (listen to it as a story about Israel, not the widow).
- b) Zaresphlatt game. Answer questions in between levels to continue playing.
- c) Rewrite the story using images from world.
- d) "Questions to Ponder" ...for deeper study.

Elijah, The Prophets of Baal, Ahab, Jezebel, and the Still Small Voice

(Minimum 30 minutes to view, study and play)

In this famous story, Elijah goes from triumph to the agony of defeat. God's loving care for Elijah is evident in the angel sent to resuscitate Elijah, the calm way in which God speaks in the cave (instead of by fire), and his gentle command to go get some help.

Page 2: I Kings 18:1-19 Elijah confronts Ahab. Elijah makes his case clear. (How could you rewrite Elijah's short speech to reflect your time and problems?)

The Hebrew does actually have Elijah saying "maybe he is busy or is relieving himself. Maybe he is taking a nap."

Page 5: Elijah has his altar built. Study Note about Bull sacrifice. Elijah's prayer is worth repeating, and worth re-wording if you have time to address needs in your community.

Page 6: God answer's Elijah's prayer with fire from heaven. Notice that the fire is not on the people, just their bull!

Page 7: Elijah seizes the prophets, the people acknowledge God. Ahab chases Elijah.

Why after all this does Ahab still have a hardened heart? (Pharaoh did too.) Notice also that God doesn't command Elijah to seize the prophets (or "kill" as the actual story relates but we conveniently left out for kids) This was Elijah's idea, not God's, and he was immediately run off the mountain and feels defeated afterward!

Page 8: Jezebel gets furious (notice the furniture she kicks over)

Elijah runs and collapses under the broom tree. He prays that he might die.

Page 9: The Angel helps Elijah Study note about God providing both real and spiritual food ...who are your helpers when you feel defeated and alone? Elijah makes it to Sinai. Study note about the other name for Mt. Sinai.

Page 9 continued: Elijah complains to God in the Cave of Horeb (Mt. Sinai). God gets Elijah's attention (Elijah needs to be reminded who he is).

Page 10: Earthquake, Wind and Fire. Notice Elijah complains twice with identical words, but his attitude is different the second time. God's words are very compassionate.

God calls Elijah out of his pity cave. Is that a metaphor or what!

Scholars have long debated why this story says so clearly "God was NOT in the earthquake, wind and fire" because in other Bible stories, God IS in them. It seems most likely that God is CHOOSING to be in the still small voice – choosing a compassionate quiet approach to Elijah's troubled heart. God's tone is very intentional in this section, as is Elijah's. God sounds like a calming parent.

- Hazaエル/Jehu/Elisha --God answers prayers by sending us people. Students are asked to consider who in their lives is someone God has sent them.

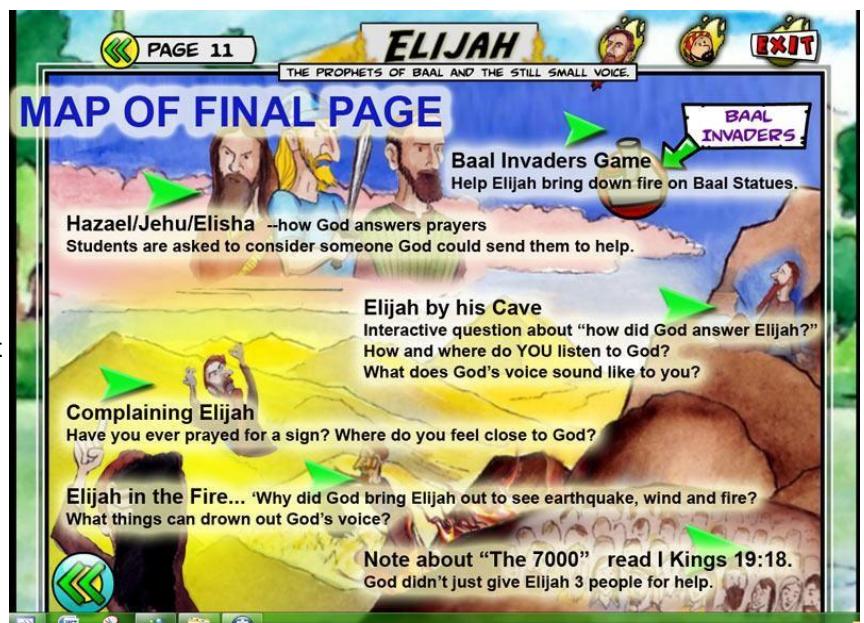

b) Complaining Elijah – Have you ever prayed for a sign? Where do you feel close to God. What kind of complaints do you bring to God?

c) The 7000 -- We didn't put it in the story, but this note says to read I Kings 19:18. God didn't just give Elijah 3 people for help. God identified 7000 in Israel who were faithful. How is God preparing you to be a member of the 7000?

d) Elijah in the Fire... ‘Why did God bring Elijah out to see earthquake, wind and fire?’

e) Click on Elijah by his Cave – interactive question about “how did God answer Elijah?”

A study note appears after the Cave selection mentioning that some Bible translated “still small voice” differently. How and where do YOU listen to God? What does God’s voice sound like to you? What things can drown out God’s voice?

f) Baal Invaders Game: Help Elijah bring down fire on Baal. What are the false “religions” and “idols” that people worship today (including Christians) that we should get “fired up” about speaking out against?

Old Elijah and Young Elisha: The Mantle and Chariot of Fire

(Minimum 20 minutes to view, study and play)

Elisha is one of the three young people Elijah had been told by God to go anoint as future leaders. Elisha is still living with his parents with Elijah calls him. Elijah leaves behind his mantle of authority for Elisha, which is surely a metaphor for the purpose of Christian education! Elisha calls upon the God of Elijah, and the parting of the waters act as God's answer. Elisha goes on to become a great prophet. There's a wonderful study graphic in this story which describes what Elijah and Elisha's names meant in Hebrew, and how they are closely related to Jesus' name.

Page 2: Elisha is found plowing his parent's field. What does that tell you about him? Elisha said good-bye with a feast, what does that tell you about Elisha? Study Note at the end of this page: What's an apprentice?

Page 3: Elijah asks Elisha to stay behind....

Why? A Study note will ask this at the end of page 3. He's probably testing Elisha's readiness, or concerned for his safety. A map will pop up on page 4 showing the towns that are mentioned in their travels.

Page 4: Elijah and Elisha come to the Jordan River

Elijah strikes the water. Elijah asks Elisha what he wants from Elijah before he goes away. There's a Study Note after Elisha's answer about what he means when he says “I want a double portion of your spirit.” Make a list of Elijah's “spirit” (qualities).

Elijah and Moses, the two “parters of water” in the Bible both had a “succession problem”. Elisha is to Elijah as Joshua is to Moses. And interestingly, both Elijah and Moses appeared to Jesus on the Mount of Transfiguration. Maybe we now know what they were talking about!

Elijah is one of the few persons in the Bible who goes to heaven alive. So did Jesus.

Jewish tradition said that Elijah would return from heaven to usher in the Messiah. John the Baptist and Jesus were asked if they were Elijah. The cup at Passover is known as Elijah's Cup. Jesus was seen talking to Elijah and Moses at the Transfiguration. The big question for us today is HOW ARE WE carrying on Elijah's mission? How can we help prepare people for Jesus' coming into their lives? How are we working to bring the Messiah's Kingdom of love and justice to all people?

Page 6: Elisha is sad, but must decide what to do next, picks up the mantle then strikes the water.

At the End of Page 6:

- a) Elisha's Story Quiz: (Six multiple choice questions with comments)
- b) Elijah's Quiz Game: A board game for one or two players about ALL of the Elijah stories on this CD. In version 1.1 this Quiz is moved to the Main Elijah menu.
- c) What's in a Name: An important narrated study note about what Eli-jah and Eli-shua's name mean. "Jah-Shua" is often spelled Joshua or Jeshua, or Yeshua. In English: "Jesus" !
- d) Catch Me if You Can: Help Elijah get the good things and avoid being captured by Ahab and Jezebel. A game about the good and bad. Key verses play in the game music background.
